

THE VIEW FROM HERE

When Frances was twenty-two, she was drifting, scraping by giving English lessons in Mexico, when she met up with a glamorous group of vacationing Americans staying in a mansion on a private beach. Two decades later in rural England, she discovers a love letter from a younger woman addressed to her husband almost at the same time as she learns that she's facing a life-threatening illness. As her contented existence begins to unravel and...

Reader's Opinions

Really have to concentrate to follow the multiple story lines of this story. Lots of twists and turns.

Read a few pages and wasn't really feeling it.
